

Case Study

Delivering a hassle free technical solution, resulting in efficient & effective IT resolution,
for a governing agency

BACKGROUND

Technology has always been at the fore front, serving us with the latest on the platter and serving us with the latest offering.

For all the various other industries, we have always been intrigued with the technologies that offer diverse solutions catering to their needs. In such a scenario, one of our well known US client, which offers innovative customer solutions, across IT, HealthCare Solutions, Software Devlpt & Project Management Services etc., was looking for smoothening the IT solutions in respect to setting up a proper structured work flow process / modules for their contract and sub contracts, along with looking for a proper contract management support, where in it becomes easier to manage and look at the contract details, sub contracts, progress, status etc.

Mobinius™ Solution

Our client based out of US, is in the field of contract management. They deal with contracts, sub-contracts and consultants, which they basically get from the government. They have their own manpower to complete the assigned contract in the stipulated time or based on the timelines, depending on the tasks. After sourcing all the relevant documents as per the contract assigned, it became a humongous task to take care of loads of documents pertaining to the duties, employee profile, salary, tasks assigned, status etc. Knowing the fact that this is a mandate as per the govt laws of having everything documented on papers or having hard copies of the same, it becomes tedious to manage the entire thing together.

To ease of all these tasks, we helped them develop a web based solution for the same, for managing the contracts. In this situation, the e-contract can be created in this web application. The user can not only create the entire contract, but also take care of the relevant documents only needed for this specific one. Along with this, we have also created an ease of access for them as follows:

- Look at the workflow management
- Create or modify the documents attached
- Addition of new fields as needed in the contract, if any
- Creation of subcontract
- Updating the subcontract
- Overview of the dashboard report
- Creating, editing, managing trackers
- Creation of reminders
- Searching a specific content or identity in the content of the contract files
- Generation of new contract forms & reports
- Creating a detailed contractor brief

TESTIMONIAL

Never expected Mobinius to perform this better!

It's a sheer pleasure to be associated with their team. Right from the very beginning, when I got a call and our very 1st meeting, we realized that we both had similar goals and were closely aligned with the core competencies of our respective organizations. Their proposal met our expectations and thus begun our association! Our technical team is amazed at the excellent work deliverable by Mobinius & their team. We are indeed glad to be working with such a wonderful organization!
